A Canuck Pimr Amassare — A Canadian blow-hard came into the city Wodnesday night on the Pittaburgh train, who threatened to kill the conductor because he would not let him smoke in the passenger car. We do not know his name, hor do we care to. He was arrested yesterday morning by Messra. Clark Warren and Vanhusan, his knife and revelver taken away from him, and trotted up to the police station, where he was fined for carrying concealed he was fined for carrying concealed weapons. When he got loose from the authorities he lit out for Canada.

BROKE Jail On Wednesday evening the two burglars who broke open the Lake county treasury safe, together with two horse thieves, broke jail in Painesville, and have not yet been re-captured. They had made a hole in one of the cells through the double planking and the outside brick wall, and thus escaped. The sheriff had been in to see them at 7:30 that evening, take their flight !" but when he went in an hour later, to lock them up, the birds had flown. A reward of one hundred dollars per caput is offered for their re-capture.

Bross a Pusse .- An Irish woman, name unknown, stole a purse containing we know not how much money, in Mrs. Porter's milliner shop on Seneca street yesterday noon. She was accused of the theft, but instantly took a bolt-upright posish on her virtue or nerve, and denied the charge ; but as the circumstantial evidence of her guilt kept developing, the parties in the shop paying it out a is Great Eastern in the case of the Atlantic cable, she took a panic, and finally owned up all. They recovered the money, and we believe the weman was sent to the city prison.

Additional Particulars - Statements Revised - Partial Examination of

We published in our last issue the details of the shocking murder committed on Wednesday in Bedford. The statement was in the general features accurate, but we anticipated that corrections would need to be made. Mr. Christian, of Bedford, on whose doorstep Mes Parsons was killed, called on us yesterday, and gave a minute account of the whole affair, endorsing our report in the main, and correcting what was wrong. As his wife witnessed the shooting, being within a few feet of the woman as she fell a corpse, and as Mr. C. was himself cognizant of many of the events of the day, his account must be acepted as the truth in the tragic matter. We learn from him that Dr. Hughes ob-ained from E. Wade, Esq , of this city, a blank bill of divorce, which he (the Doctor) filled out, and with this forged document deceived Miss Tamsey Parsons, who, as we stated, he induced to go to Pittsburgh with him. They were married in that city one day last January, and on the next day Mr. Haines, the brother-in-law of Miss P., went to Pitteburgh, informed her that the Doctor had a wife and one child living, and had him put under arrest, prosecuted and sent o the Penitentiary. She immediately returned to her home in Bedford, having lived with Hughes as wife twenty-four nours instead of several weeks, as stated. Mr. Christian also informed us that about wo weeks since, the Doctor went to her some, which by the way is four miles from Bedford, and secreted himself in the house. Mr. Parsons and this daughter were the only members of the family at home at this ime. About two o'clock in the morning the Doctor stole into her room, and presenting a knite and revolver, warned her that f she gave any slarm she should instantly die. For several hours he urged his suit, persisting that he was indeed divorced, and entreating her to go to his home. He used no violence and treated her very respectfully. In the morning Mr. Parsons discovered him in the house, and ordered him to leave. The Doctor assaulted him and was afterwards arrested and fined herefor. Business calling him away, Mr. P. left them together in his house. Hughes, stayed around some time, endeavoring to persuade her to accompany him, and finally attempted to take her away by force. A returned soldier happened to be there at the time, who prevented the kidnapping.

The Doctor soon after left for this city. As Mr. Christian's account of the murder differs in some points from that given, we will give a rapid sketch of the transaction. About ten o'clock Wednesday morning Hughes drove out to her home, where he was cordially received by Mrs. Christian. Inquiring for Tamsey, he was informed that she was not at home. He had a somewhat lengthy and pleasant social interview with Mrs. C., when he returned to Bedford about two o'clock in the afternoon, and made inquiries for Miss P. But failing to elicit any information as to her whereabouts, he left his carriage and sought the tavern to treat his companions, Russell and Carr. On their way to the tavern, however, he saw Miss P. pass on the other side of the street, walking rapidly toward the house of her friend, Mrs. Christian, which she was seeking as an asylum of protection. Hughes nstantly left his companions and ran after her. A son of Mr. Christian stood at the gate, which he opened for the admittance of Miss P. The Doctor followed rapidly, entered the gate and called out to her to halt. She kept on toward the front door, which Mrs. Christian had just opened, replying to Hughes' demand, as she put foot on the step, "You need not follow me; I will not go"-the last words she ever spoke. He sdvanced and putting his hand The Income Tax, Tax on carriages, plate, in the back of the neck, but not inflicting a mortal wound. She exclaimed "Oh!" when conses, is now due. If parties fail to pay the assassin fired a second shot, the ball entering the base of the skull and taking an upward course, killing her instantly, Miss P. falling heavily on her right side. Hughes thereupon raised the revolver as if to shoot Mrs. Christian who, standing in the doorway to receive Miss P., said, "Dr. Hughes" how could you do such a thing?" Two workmen standing near and young man Christian shouted simultaneously to the murderer, whereupon he dropped his revolver to his side. He then walked deliberately away to his carriage, a distance perhaps of eighty yards, followed by one f the workmen in the yard, who at length grappled with the Doctor, but the latter hurled him to the ground with a powerful effort, and presenting his revolver said that any man who should interfere with him would be killed instantly. He then jumped into his carriage and drove rapidly toward Nowburgh. Driver Carr says that Hughes threatened to kill him if be did not put the horses up to the height of their speed, and that Russell presently got out of the carriage, mounted the box and lashed the horses most furiously. The murderer was found by the pursuers in about an hour after he leaped from the carriage and perhaps the best one of the series. This fled to the thick undergrowth of brush. A instantly sat down upon a truck beside ompany always draw well here, and give Mr. Comstock saw him lying under a bush, > on his shoulder and asked : "Do you surender?" He gave up his revolver and knife, and surrendered without resistance. The prisoners were brought before Jusice Kolbe, in Court Room No. 2, yesterday orning, for a preliminary examination. ossecuting Attorney, C. W. Palmer, Esq., in the absence of certain important witesses, inoved that the examination be ostponed till nine o'clock Saturday morning, and the motion was agreed to. Messrs.

Heisiey and Kerruish appeared as counsel for Dr.-Hughes, and M. S. Castle, Esq., for Russell and Carr. We learn that Miss Parsons was burled at half-past two o'clock yesterday afternoon from the residence of Mr. Christian in Bedford, where she met her death.

The Oberlin Anniversaries Thirteenth Anniversary of the Elici

ORERLIN, August 10, 1865. EDITORS LEADER: The Ælioian, the second of the ladies' literary societies of this college, celebrated its thirteenth anniversary vesterday afternoon. This society former ly rejoiced in the name of Young Ladies' Lyceum, but of late years has adopted the above Homeric-like epithet, which is apt to puzzle Greek scholars, (albeit ws are authoritatively informed that it is Greek and does mean something,) but which is certainly very suphonic. The Elioisa appears quite an infant when compared with its venerable sister of thirty years' experience; yet no traces are visible of that lack of discre tion which is said to be characteristic of tender years. It gathered yesterday as large an audience as the other society did last week, and sent them away as well pleased.

We subjoin the programme of the occasion, which was ably carried out under the supervision of Miss A. H. Chapman, the resident of the society : MU-IO. PRAYES. Huldsh M. Baker, Chester The Two Graves of St. Helena C. Allab m, c bertie

Benediction. The most noticeable feature of the entertainment was the considerable preponderance of the humorous style. On this acount, though certainly open to the objection of sametess, the exercises were more generally understood and appreciated by the audience than has sometimes been the case. Miss Baker opened the exercises in a pleasant manuer; Miss Cory's short essay on "Fences" continued in the same tone,it is questionable, however, whether stricures on rail fences come with a good grace from the region of Lorsin county. Miss Jarvis set forth in an alarming light the evils of certain kinds of confectionary, and ended by comparing them the peccadilloes which human nature is acknowledged to be

The " Pacific Monthly," common as such collections of miscellance have come to be, was listened to with interest, and agreeably diversified the exercises. Miss Nash inveighed with vigor against stitched garnents and patched characters. Misses Stickney and Lawrence also drew, very eleverly, moral lessons from such unexpect ed themes as "Arks" and "Eels."

By way of sessoning we were treated to berer productions from the pens of Misses Partridge, Allen, and Allaben. All of these, especially the last mentioned, were highly creditable.

The large church was decorated with unusual profusion. We should note also the excellent character of the music on this ocssion, which was furnished by four of our est singers, under the direction of Mr. J. P. Morgan. The selections were from some of the first composers, and the rendering the best which has been heard at a Society Anniversary for a some time.

The exercises might possibly be suspected being the veriest trifle too long. This should always be looked to in an entertainment intended for a miscellaneous 'sudi ence. On the other hand the audience bould have better manners than to interrupt the exercises by noisy entrances and exits, or by loud whispering and talking, ions, and there are four public exhibitions

I., who has been in hospital at the East, came here some time since, and has been stopping at the Soldiers' Home. He wished to go home to Slatecut, Ind., via Cincinnati, but havine only four and a half dollars, he applied to Mr. Clark Warren, yesterday, for a pass to Cincinnati, where the soldier has friends who, he said, would assist him home. Mr. Warner obtained the pass for him from Superintendent Flint, and the soldier, in company with Messrs. Warren and Vanbusan, was walking through the denot about three o'clock in the afternoon, suchel in hand, to the Columbus train, when the value suddenly came in contact with the end of a truck drawn by Patrick Donnely. The hammer of a navy revolver, inside the sachel, must have hit the truck, for the pistol went off, the ball passing through the pant-leg of said Donnely, and striking switchman James Smith in the left knee as he was standing two or three rods distant, Mr. Smith exclaimed "Oh!" and him. He was carried by the officers of the good astisfaction, and we presume this is and holdly advanced to him, laid his hand depot into Depot Master Rebinson's room, and Surgeon General Barr, who happened to be at hand, was called to see him. He found on examination that the bones of the leg were not much broken, but the knee joint had been perfectly and clearly opened and unlocked by the passage of the halfinch ball. The Surgeon said that the leg would in all probability have to be am-

Mr. Smith was taken to his home No. 38 John street, West Side. He has been employed about the depot as depot-master assistant for ten or twelve years, and has always been steady, reliable and efficient. He and his family have the warmest sympathy of all the depot officials.

The soldier was taken back to the Home where he will be kept several days. The navy revolver was taken from him by Mesers. Warren and Vanhusan, and on subsequent examination his suchel was found to contain another navy revolver, loaded, and two large unloaded Deringer pistols. What a sick discharged soldier wants of four pistols, passes knowledge or conjecture They were all taken by the depot police to plead for a pass when he has a hundred dollars worth of firearms, useless to him, in his possession.

company with the colebrated Tippo Saib, who was his companion in the mun geria building last winter, and they usually got slong together extremely well. In 1863, while exhibiting in Wisconsin, however, they had a regular set-to, which, if it had not been interrupted, would probably have resulted seriously. They were chained in a tent, side by side, and were amusing them selves by "skylarking," and playing practical jokes upon one another, when Tipp lost his temper, and let fly with his trunk unexpectedly establing Hannibal under the leg, and fairly staggering the old fellow The latter, as soon as he recovered from hi astonishment, rellied, and visited Tipp with a sockdolager which fairly sent his

NEW STYLES OF BUCKLES Just

THUSBUAY EVENING, Aug. 10, 1865. The money market continues quiet and steady. The d mand for currency is measure and the market casy. Exchange was in more inquiry to day, and with some of the banks the supply is close. Bates are firm at % discount to par buying and %45% remium selling.

Guid is declining, doubtless under the infine of large sales being made daily by the Government on the 15th inst. The fall to-day was about 1% well, per cent., the price closing this afternoon at 183%. The New York Herald of Wednesday says of the

The New York Herald of Wednesday says of the money market:

The supp y of money is quite equal to the demand from breewers, which is moderate. The common rafe is seven per cest, but a few accounts of transactions have been made at siz. The indications are that the supply of loanship funds at this centre wil intreas for come time, and that Lee amount withdrawn to move the crops will be less than the inflax fr.m vari unscorres.

The Cincinnati Gassite of this morning says:

There is a continued good demand for money, but the supply is squal thereto, and discounts are obtained without difficulty at scale per cent.

Enchange is source and firmer, with a slight advance in the buying rate, which is new boughts erronium. Buckers co it us to draw at 1-log r mium. The exchanges are n w in fare of Mew York, and the supply not be to equal to the docand, our income is the shipped.

In Chicago currency is easy. Ex hange is close active and firm at par buying and 1-10 premium selling. The Tribune of Wednesday says: "The news from the interior with regard to the crops is less favorates, and the speculative feeling has been rovived sgain. Heavy rains have prevailed throughout the Northwest for several days past, and it is reported that the crops have suffered in consequence."

In the general markets Breadstaffs continue dell. The demand for Flour is on a very limited scale, but prices are steady and firm. Wheat is heavy and uncettled. The extreme flaures demand d by holders keep buy ra out of the market accept as th ir necessities compel them to purchase, and as a consequence it is impossible to get at reliable prices. There were no transactions except two cars rejected red to day, and we are not able to make quo ations for go'd grad a Corn is dull and we are restricted to a non-inal quotation.
